

White Ships

Phillip Mills

Swing feel

C G C G C Em Am

There's a Lord in the moun - tains, a Queen for the (Where) treas - on and ven - geance would fol - low, you
 (The) Va - lar's last mes - sen - ger told you the trees. The stars have a La - dy; A sprite rules each breeze; But led. You fought with your kins - men and left them for dead. There's truth: You act - ed on Mor - goth's foul lies with no proof. And you're where is our King - dom, that once was the seas Now that the none who'll for - give you and naught to be said Now that the wel - come no more in the land of your youth Now that the white ships are gone? To fol - low the thief of the jewels of your white ships are gone. Ships you have sto - len mark man - y a white ships are gone. A - cross the north strait, blind on his heart, The fell oath you've spo - ken brings doom from the start. It grave track, Your Bro - ken on rocks by the wrath of the waves And track, Your friends you've a - - ban - doned and nev - er looked back. The binds sons and bro - thers, and tears us a - - part Now that the no one shall trust you for the rest of your days Now that the white sails burn blood red; white tim - bers turn black And the last of the

G F Em F Dm

C Em Am G F

C G C Em Am

G F Em F Dm

C Em Am G F

G C G C Cadd9 C Cadd9 C

white ships are gone. Like sea - birds a - wing - ing; like white ships are gone.
 white ships are gone.

Dm7 Em F C Dm7 Am/D Em clouds in the sky, So soft o'er the wa - ter, you'd swear they could fly
 C Dm7 Dm Em F Em
 Lost to the Lone - ly Isle for ev - er - more Torn from their Ha - ven on G C G 1,2 3 C Val - i - nor's shore Where The

History:
 December, 2004